

I JUST KNOW

by Jeff Chase and Joyce Johnson Rouse

I've been at a crossroad at times in my life
Confused that two directions appeared both wrong and right
I turn to my heart for answers, which way should I go
Somehow without thinking, I just know

Coal can turn to diamonds and mountains rise from dust
We're part of something bigger than all the stars above
What gives a seed the spirit to make a flower grow?
Someone is watching, I just know

I trust these feelings deep inside
I believe with all my heart that love's the truest guide

And I just know there is a reason I was led to you
Now my life has meaning, my path is straight and true
I want to walk beside you as far as we can go
I was meant to love you, I just know
Somehow without thinking, I just know